

Should you be worried about heartworms?

Left untreated, heartworms infect a pet's heart, liver and lungs. Spread by mosquitos, treatment is difficult but prevention is easier and more effective! Damage from heartworms includes:

Make sure your pet is protected. Talk to your veterinarian about the heartworm preventative right for your pet.

